Check-Up Advised By Cancer Society

"Don't put it off - Get A Pap Test" is the message on an American Cancer Society sticker being displayed prominently this month, as well as the advice of Pap Test Month Chairman, Mrs. M. Pinson Neal, Jr. of Richmond.

September has been designed as Pap Test Month in Virginia by the American Cancer Society in a special effort to alert women to the importance of the simple Pap Test in the early detection of uterine cancer. "Prompt Action Protects" has been selected as the theme and relates not only to uterine cancer but also to the importance of early detection of breast cancer through breast self-examination.

Mrs. Neal, who has been active for many years in community activities, especially in the health field, explained that "Personally, I have been deeply involved in the often tragic consequences of cancer. Having lost both of my parents in their early 50's of cancer and fought other battles against this disease with close family members and friends, experienced this hollow feeling of helplessness,' She added. "But, there is hope. Undoubtedly one of the most significant events in history was the test developed by Dr. Papanicolaou which no woman over the age of 20 should deny herself of having. A foremost priority for me is to have the quick, safe and easy pap test yearly."

Mrs. Neal explained that the Pap Test Month observance in Virginia is part of a four-year Uterine Cancer Task Force Project being conducted by the American Cancer Society nationally to make it possible for every woman, age 20 and over, to have a Pap test by 1976. Special attention is being directed to the high-risk groups of older women, those with low incomes and those who live in rural communities.

Among the special activities planned in connection with Pap Test Month is a Pap Test Screening Center at the State Fair of Virginia, Sept. 18-28. Physicians and nurses will be volunteering their time to give free Pap Tests and breast examinations daily from 3 to 9 p.m. In addition, instruction in breast self-examination will also be provided. The State Fair project is a cooperative effort of the MCV/VCU Cancer Center, Va. State Dept. of Health, and the American Cancer Society, Va. Division, Inc.

In local communities throughout the state, special pap test clinics will also be provided during September and in future months as a cooperative effort with local health departments. These clinics have been made possible through a Cervical Screening Grant awarded to the State Dept. of Health by the National Cancer Institute.

Other Pap Test Month activities include widespread distribution of a Pap Test sticker to place on public restroom doors, educational programs, women's groups,

Farmers Are Asked To Make Nominations For ASC Committee

Farmers are asked to nominate candidates of their choice to be on the ASC community committee ballot, says James R. Ford, Jr., Chairman, Appomattox County ASC Committee.

The ASC community committee election will be conducted Nov. 21 to Dec. 1, by mail ballot. The three ASC communities in Appomattox county are: Cloverhill, Southside and Stonewall.

ASC committees are responsible for managing government farm programs on the local level. To meet the needs of individual producers, ASC committee members must be concerned and responsible individuals, Mr. Ford said. Appomattox County farmers have the opportunity to nominate persons they feel would best serve the farm community.

A few basic considerations should be kept in mind when circulating petitions. In order to be valid, petitions must be limited to one nominee each, must include written certification that the nominee is willing to serve if elected, must be signed by at least three eligible farm voters in the ASC community, and must be received in the county ASCS office no later than Oct. 28.

A farmer may circulate or sign nominating petitions for as many candidates as he chooses. Anyone wishing to nominate a farmer for the ASC committee election may contact the county ASCS office for full details, including eligibility requirements for officeholders.

The Chairman believes that farmer nominations of candidates for the upcoming ASC committee election are very important. He said, "Farmers should petition for and elect those individuals they feel would do a good job as ASC committeemen. The election of concerned farmers to positions on ASC committees is necessary for good administration of farm programs."

Mr. Ford further explained that the county ASCS office welcomes all valid petitions. The opportunity to nominate, vote, and be elected to office is guaranteed to all farmers regardless of race, religion, sex, color, or national origin.

Attention All Interested Citizens
